MAKE YOUR OWN

ZEBRA cro-un'

Follow these steps to make your own zebra crown at home.

Ask an adult to help you cut out the shapes

• Black & white • Sticky tape cardboard

• A Pencil

- Googly eyes
- Scissors R
 - A plate

Using the white cardboard, place a small plate upside down and draw around it to make the zebra's face.

Using a ruler, cut out two strips of paper for the headband.
Cut out the semi-circle shape for the face.

Using both black and white cardboard, cut out the shapes above for the nose, nostrils, mane, ears and stripes. The picture above shows all the shapes you'll need.

Glue the shapes for the nose, nostrils, mane, ears and stripes onto the white semi-circle. Add the googly eyes or you can draw them on.

Glue six triangles on the band leaving a space in the middle for the face. Once complete, stick the face onto the band.

This is what the finished crown will look like.

Ask an adult to put the crown around your head and sticky tape the two ends together. Use the extra strip of paper if you need to make it bigger.
