

Golden-rayed Blue Butterfly

Fingerplay Rhyme

There was a tiny egg on a leaf at Melbourne Zoo,
Out hatched a caterpillar all shiny, green and new.

She crawled on her leaf and she crawled all around,
She ate and ate and ate until the perfect place she found.

There she made a chrysalis as cosy as can be,
It was light brown – like the bark of a tree.

Look! She's coming out, oh my!
A beautiful blue winged butterfly.
